

Oakley Industrial Blvd. Extension to Gullatt Road

Project Location Map

Anticipated Completion

Late 2026

Project Background

Extending Oakley Industrial Boulevard to Gullatt Road will create more route options to support the area's rapid growth and position the corridor for a possible future interchange at Gullatt Road and I-85.

Preliminary design plans are complete, and the CID and the city of Fairburn are currently working to acquire the necessary right-of-way for future construction.

Project Description

The South Fulton CID is advancing plans to extend Oakley Industrial Boulevard to connect with Gullatt Road on the Southeast side of I-85.

The South Fulton CID's Multimodal Study recommended the extension of Oakley Industrial Boulevard south, past Creekwood towards Gullatt and Johnson, along with introducing a new interchange in this area. Together, these updates will allow for greater traffic flow and create a connection to the CSX Fairburn Intermodal Terminal.

This project being planned in conjunction with a potential new interchange at Gullatt Road and I-85.